

Cuckline

by Brett Stevens on December 27, 2024

In social situations, euphemism dominates because people are afraid of criticism, so will only participate in social events where hard realism gets neutered, sugared, and homogenized into platitudes which emphasize the notion that no one is at fault. All stupid decisions become misfortunes or evils.

Similarly, in politics, people tone down realistic observations because they are unsociable. Someone will be to blame or at least will not be able to be included, and that upsets the normie since he is exclusively a social creature, which then makes it less likely that mass votes and profits will result from those realistic observations.

This sets up the division between the “far-Right” and the neutered mainstream Right: the far-Right talks about biology.

Unlike social situations, biology does not include everyone because biology is based on inequality. Biological systems maintain themselves through constant internal variation and sorting through mechanisms like natural selection, which are the opposite of meritocracy: instead of testing things against a standard, they see what adapts to the whole of reality.

Biology, like economics, in this way reflects a more advanced form of logic. It selects for those who can adapt to all situations, not just some aspects of a situation; it cannot be gamed as easily. It reduces costs and raises quality, instead of raising costs by reducing quality like egalitarian and sociable systems do.

For those on the Right, we might posit a cuckline which divides the men from the boys. The failure-oriented neutered mainstream Right stays on the profitable side and never talks about biology (race, class, ethnicity, sex) but the far-Right is willing to not only admit these things but recognize them as the center of the Civilization Question.

The mainstream Right-wing politicians who were okay with affirmative action, diversity-is-our-strength, working women, the entitlements state (for “social mobility”), and progressive taxes will not talk about biology. To them, biology is unsociable because humans do not control it, and therefore mentioning it makes us feel like weak monkeys who accidentally got gifted big brains (apparently Prometheus, the serpent in the Garden of Eden, was unavailable for comment).

Mainstream people — normies, NPCs, meatsuits, surrogates, background actors — do not want to think about anything beyond the human world that humans control. This appeals to the inherent narcissism of the semi-intelligent. To them, humans are gods who command the world and anything which debunks that sensation makes them very angry.

But the cuckline remains on diversity.

If you want your civilization to live, you oppose diversity in any form. You become a benevolent xenophobe, not a “racist.” That is, you recognize that every other ethnic group wants to conquer yours, take its stuff, and rape its women. This is how nature works.

People like myself, who grew up in highly diverse societies and are fond of people from basically every background on Earth, do not like “racism” — although we are racialist and recognize innate and unchangeable biological/genetic differences between social class, races, and ethnic groups — because it misses the big point.

The big point — what gets you over the cuckline — is that you want a mono-ethnic society.

It does not matter if the foreign groups are smarter, dumber, nicer, meaner, primitive, or more advanced. Only what matters is that they are not of your group. Your ethnic group is Us; everyone else on Earth is Other. You can only trust Us, and within it, only the non-narcissists.

To get along with the Left, conservatives had to stay on the shopping malls and Hollywood movie side of the cuckline, so they accepted multi-racialism and multiculturalism as “good” despite knowing that these are fatal to civilization. The third world is mixed-race and has lost the abilities of its ancestors; cucked conservatives want the same future for us.

On the other side of the cuckline, we admit that misgenation — even trace miscegenation — is failure that destroys a civilization. Since we do not want our civilization destroyed, and realize that individuals depend on civilization for success, we oppose miscegenation and diversity.

Right now the humans have clustered in two separate groups. One is saying that the USA needs more H-1Bs from India; the other is saying nasty things about Indians. Both of these groups are “retarded” which is to say both insane (unrealistic) and stupid (illogical). The point is not Indians, but Americans: we need a mono-ethnic WASP America.

Period.

There is no deviation from this fact. If you fail to accept it, you run away to the soda pop side of the cuckline and will never respect yourself again. That way leads to being Mitt Romney or Lindsey Graham. If you accept this aspect of reality, however, you become unsociable because you are saying what most people fear and hope to avoid.

Not surprisingly, very few will cross the cuckline. Apparently Elon Musk is now afraid to cross it and is self-destructing eX-Twitter by censoring those who mention how much diversity fails, including in his homeland of South Africa, where Indians, Africans, the miscegenated, and Whites war it out for control.

He misread the room. The MAGA movement combined a Tea Party skepticism of the entitlements state with a 1980s revivalist rejection of the Clinton-era embrace of diversity that has transformed America. We do not hate Indians, Africans, Orientals, Hispanics, etc.; we recognize that diversity of any form is fatal to our future.

The talking heads want re-frame this debate as being about “culture.” They detach culture from genetics, which makes no sense to a scientifically-minded person (SMP), but want to say that culture is like corporate culture, a bunch of behaviors hammered into people.

Some say Indians are better workers; some say Whites are. Some talk about racial quotas and others about the dangers of unchecked immigration. None of these are on point. There is one issue and it is the survival of Western Civilization, which depends on ethnic Western European (Scots, English, Scandi, Dutch, northern French, northern German) genetics.

Come to the other side of the cuckline, and life makes a lot more sense. Even you, Elon.

Musk really screwed the pooch on this one. I don't follow the guy closely, but now that he's getting political, it's becoming apparent he's out of his league. I don't think he understood what he was getting into.

I am a victim of the h1b. Started my IT career as a pc hardware tech in 1988. Eventually became a developer, then a senior developer and systems analyst. I watched it all happen, and now get to argue with people on X who weren't even alive at the time. They brought these people in by the boatload, and companies forced their very competent and hard working American workers to train their replacements before being laid off.

Elon is absolutely tone deaf, and he's about as lost me as a supporter. To top it all off the guy actually thinks he can make a difference in government waste and spending. He's either clueless or posturing.

Indians on average have a 76 IQ, but the ones being brought to the USA, and hired in the STEM fields outperform Americans, generally. It's not really replacing H1-B with Americans in regards to jobs since most of them are benefitting the corporations, and America as a whole. Only illegal migrants affect your average Americans, because they take jobs away from the working class. The tech jobs are being filled by Indians, because not enough Americans or even WASPs have the merit to compete against them. If that was the case, these corporations would fill these jobs with WASPs guaranteed.

I think your average white American is a hard working, blue collar type. Pickup truck and all. Electrician, carpenter, construction worker...

The STEM fields are generally run with Indian/Asian students/workers. If you want WASPs to fill these positions, tell them to work harder and do better. Or convince the corporations to pay more to WASPs instead of of paying a little less to H1-Bs.

i think both MAGA and H1-B supporters both have great points, but to exclusively give jobs to WASPs because they're WASPs sounds too much like affirmative action. Where all whites are entitled to these jobs just because they're white...and you're expecting corporations to pay more to someone who's equally competent(or a little less than) when they can get same or better results from an Indian.

Both Elon and Vivek are billionaires and both migrated to the US and become success stories. They did this based on meritocracy. I don't see the issue with them coming here, working harder than Americans, and essentially benefitting Americans in the long run.

Musk should fix South Africa and Vivek should fix India. We don't need them in USA.

Actually you do. Tesla is one of the biggest countries in the world and brings great revenue to America. I know you're anti-globalist, but America's economic situation on a global scale is important. Vivek owns a global pharmaceutical company. All these companies bring revenue to America. That's important.

If we pushed away Elon, Tesla, Space X, etc... we'd be the dumbest country on the planet.

I like SpaceX, but I think were H1B labor not available, our native WASP labor would do just fine. They invented most of the internet and its protocols after all, as well as took us to space the first time.

I agree, but I think Elon is a little empathetic to the H1-B because he comes from that, and he couldn't have achieved his accomplishments without the USA and its resources that our country offers. So he's willing to hire Indians to work for him. I don't think he'll change this mindset either.

Okay, but where's the WASP labor outside of Elon Musk and Tesla? All these recent billionaire entrepreneurs are immigrants. With the exception of Bezos, and he has more Hispanic heritage than white. Someone will take their place but it seems no one has stepped up, and even NASA can't keep up with the achievements of Elon and Space X.

Asians are conformists. They won't innovate or invent to save their own lives.

The Japanese literally created the compact disc (CD). That's just one of the many things they've created. You literally believe these lies you've stated? You must be trolling.

It's not affirmative action to say we hire among our own people. It's national preservation. Affirmative Action was designed to remove WASPs and replace them with foreigners.

White Americans are NOT getting these tech jobs because Indian ran it consulting companies are the gatekeepers.

This issue is not as simple as merit vs preference. And I personally have seen hundreds of H1B visa holders doing jobs a trained monkey could do. Say what you want, I'm speaking from experience not ideology

I have seen this a lot over the years, first with Chinese, then Russians, now Indians. Dumb managers think that interchangeable cogs that are cheap beat out real talent, and in dying industries, they have a point: quality is optional, blost drives the upgrade cycle, and the need to improve is minimal. Companies waltzed into top position by network effects and are now kept there because users rely on them, for example Google, Microsoft, Facebook, Reddit, Amazon, and other corporate bloaties.

Exactly. WTF did they think he meant by "cutting costs"? Same thing he means in the private sector: cheap 3rd world labor, and lots of it.

Trump is going to have to do something to distance himself from this and sooner rather than later. Musk apparently wants to turn the U.S. into one big Walmart, and I don't think that is what the MAGA base had in mind.

Doesn't matter, it's all hopeless long term short of a turner diaries scenario.

Musk's most useful contribution was firing the three-quarters of Twitter staff who contributed nothing; this has changed all of Silicon Valley. They need bulk labor to do the menial tasks of development, but results are bad, which would matter if Silicon Valley was a real industry and not just an investment opportunity for speculators.

"For those on the Right, we might posit a cuckline which divides the men from the boys."

I ain't sure who's on this line division. I never saw a boy with a beer gut getting nagged by an equally overweight wifejak. Most men are domesticated work animals only fit for the mine or the field to be destroyed trough labour. The boy on the other hand knows that play is nobler than work any day.

Most people may be low competence, but it takes a Bell Curve to make a society. I agree with the last sentence. Having robots replace the most repetitive labor and then cutting the social programs would create a Darwinistic influence and we could shed the really dumb to the third world.

People still act like "musk wouldn't know" when the guy was a fraudster whis entire life and this is just another fraud. He pulled the rug with dogecoin, now he pulls the rug with MAGA. It was nothing about "white america" or any such nonsense. America is a business and in business you are on your own.

I might upgrade this: economics underlies all political decisions because economics determines who eats and who does not.
