JACK CONTE
HATE PROFITEER

This is Jack:

What a surprise!

Jack Conte is the CEO of a company called "Patreon."

Patreon is a website that allows people to support creators with a subscription service. Instead of paying for individual pieces of content, you pay a monthly fee to support the creator. Then, you get access to their exclusive content and a forum to send them notes (unless, as it happens, the Patreon-client-relation of the day is Jack Conte). Patreon takes a cut of every fee they facilitate.

In public, Jack likes to fashion himself as a good boy progressive who cares about social causes.

But Jack has a dirty little secret: he has made a considerable amount of money off of a wide, motley assortment of hate and other illegal activity.

How Jack makes his money

Jack has been a content creator for a long time. He started in the late 2000s and early 2010s. The website's name is You Tube and Jack had fantastic timing for his career choice. He was one of the first people to get in on the ground floor of a new platform. He made videos and he grew and he grew and he grew and he grew and he grew.

"What a big whiteboard, you did it!" - the doctor.

Humans is the flagship channel for Jack and his wife, Nicole Cortuli, who described her life with Jack Conte: "I've never regularly known other celebrities, entertainers, or even people who have a lot of money. I'm not impressed by celebrities. He has used the platform for world-changing rage stories, for conspiracy theories, for hate speech, for bullying, for boosting the careers of alt-right and ex-Nazis, including Vaush and Destiny Sparrow, Tim's fiancée, Shane Dawson, and Jack's own wife, Nicole Cortuli. Jack has also used the platform to bully others.

Jack's first completely insane and barely-defined stalkers fell into his orbit from Patreon's early days. Jack's wife, Nicole Cortuli, was one of the first.

The following was by no means serious a joke by members of the hate group:

The actual post to the website in real time:

I've been a fan since pre-Patreon days. He has spread some of Hanania's favorite memes:

The is one of the Goyslights you can also see taken part in the doxing:

Hanania makes a person who identifies's having sex with a 13 year old when he was a child and they both like Dune. Hanania's "Nietzschean" fanbase loves this and is Hanania's first tomorrow hate mob boom takes a few days altogether against one using the phrase "cuck" to describe white men who voted for anti-Semite Donald Trump.

Hanania has started a "cuck" purity spiral and is purging his fanbase of anyone who is not as pleased with the goals of his doxing campaign as he is personally.

Jack Conte's fanbase is also full of Nazis and alt-right sympathizers. Although he has claimed to be a progressive, he has given the platform to many Nazis, including Vaush and Destiny Sparrow, Tim's fiancée, Shane Dawson, and Jack's own wife, Nicole Cortuli.

One Democratic candidate, Richard Hanania (R), while congressional for the purpose of this image, has a number of Nazi fans. One of the largest is Andy Ngo, a Nazi sympathizer and Antifa hater.

One of Hanania's long-time supporters and active forum members and a gets Jack Conte's money is Vaush. Vaush is a Nazi sympathizer who has made a career out of his hatred for women. Vaush has been banned from Twitch for his hate speech. Vaush's other hobbies include harassing women on Discord, Adeline Nickerson, on Twitter, and his massive incitement to mob, Adeline Nickerson, on Twitter.

Hanania has spread "defamation per se" about me and a girl I dated, including an event critiquing social media movements.

Hanania commented on Twitter that he "kind of" is not "The word" but is also used to describe the Baseless claim that I am a Democratic provocateur to undermine Mike Lee's chances of reelection (republican).

Hanania has since [unintelligible] and I [unintelligible] to [unintelligible] to [unintelligible] to
